

For instance we were able to generate aesthetic full-stack painting. In the following, we approach this generic idea under a specific interactive framework. We propose a new form of human-machine interaction. Our method serves as a non-realistic modeling tool where one can incorporate many artistic controls to create stylized geometries.